Accepting on behalf of Teleflex: Liam Kelly, President and Chief Executive Officer

With global headquarters in Wayne, PA and its European headquarters in Athlone, Ireland, Teleflex is a global provider of medical technology products, with full year 2017 revenues of over $2.1 Billion and employing over 14,000. Teleflex's mission is to improve the health and quality of people's lives through a relentless pursuit of identifying unmet clinical needs providing products that benefit patients and healthcare providers.

Teleflex focuses its portfolio on products that enhance clinical benefits, improve patient and provider safety and reduce total procedural costs. The Company's portfolio is diverse, with solutions in the fields of vascular and interventional access, surgical, anesthesia, cardiac care, urology, interventional urology, emergency medicine and respiratory care.

The Company estimates that every day its products are used in over 31,000 surgical procedures in the U.S., to help more than 1,600 patients who require vascular access intervention, to care for more than 6,000 patients in the ICU and by 3,200 emergency respondents to treat patients in the field.

In 2017, Teleflex made two of the largest acquisitions in its history, significantly expanding its product portfolio with technologies that improve clinical outcomes. In February 2017, Teleflex acquired Vascular Solutions, Inc. a global leader in the coronary and peripheral vascular markets, adding more than 80 devices and services to its portfolio. In October of 2017, Teleflex acquired NeoTract, Inc., a developer of minimally invasive products for the urology market, focused on Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH), or enlarged prostate, a condition that effects over 40 million men in the U.S. alone.
